Beauvitech WTP is a biological insecticide containing Beauveria bassiana, a naturally occurring entomopathogenic fungus that is used for the control of Trialeurodes vaporariorum (whiteflies) on French beans and beans. The fungus spores upon entering the body of the insect penetrate and penetrate the cuticle to grow inside the insect body within 24 hours.

DIRECTIONS FOR USE: Directions for use must be followed. If used near water, allowed is not to be used near a water source or on plants that may be used for food or livestock feed. Do not use on crops that may be used for food or livestock feed. Do not use on crops that may be used for food or livestock feed.

HAZARDS & PRECAUTIONS: This product is not hazardous to the aquatic environment and can be used around aquatic areas.

SAFETY DATA SHEET: This product does not contain any hazardous ingredients and is not harmful to the environment. It is non-toxic to fish and can be used around aquatic areas.

DISPOSAL: Dispose of materials in compliance with local regulations.

TOXICOLOGICAL INFORMATION: This product is not hazardous if it comes into contact with the skin or is inhaled. It may be used around aquatic areas, on plants that may be used for food or livestock feed, and on crops that may be used for food or livestock feed.

NOTICE TO THE USER: This product is used only in accordance with the directions on the label. To ensure that it is an insecticide, consult a pest control professional. For more information, contact your local pest control service.

SEVERE OR MILD REACTIONS: SODIUM BICARBONATE 0.5% is recommended for contact with skin or eyes. Consult a physician if symptoms persist.

CAUTION (TAHADHARI): This product is not hazardous if used as directed. It is non-toxic to fish and can be used around aquatic areas, on plants that may be used for food or livestock feed, and on crops that may be used for food or livestock feed.

www.dudutech.com